

AI use self-declaration

The following sections are all the result of my creative thinking: research question, argumentation, experimental design, text writing, analysis of findings.

When it came to choosing which statistical methods to use, the AI provided suggestions based on my initial decisions. The AI helped me debug my programs, adjust the framework, and suggest simpler algorithms. The poster's layout and all three images were created entirely by the AI, while I wrote all the text myself.
